What is Phi Chi?

Phi Chi is an international organization having chapters in the US, Canada, and the Caribbean. There are presently 16 active chapters and total membership exceeds 36,000 consisting of student, associate, and alumni members. Many chapters have active alumni associations and alumni members have practices throughout the world. Phi Chi prides itself as a co-ed fraternity in which all members have equal access to participate and hold leadership positions. Phi Chi Medical Fraternity provides a common meeting ground for students with common interest and goals. Membership offers a wide latitude of benefits which range from an active and closely knit fraternal association with educational, personal, social and student professional relationships available throughout one's lifetime. Medical school is challenging, but definitely not insurmountable. You have already proven that you can be successful – we can help you be more successful!

The Grand Chapter, which convenes annually at various chapter locations, is composed of delegates elected from active and alumni chapters and the officers of the Fraternity. It offers great opportunity to get involved in national leadership as well meet members from other chapters.

Benefits of the Phi Chi Community

Alumni

Many Chapters have active alumni associations at medical schools, offering networking opportunities with local physicians.

Awards

Phi Chi acknowledges the excellencies and successes of chapter members annually providing national awards. The Eben J. Carey Award in Anatomy and the Michael E. Carey Award for service are a couple of examples.

Scholarships

Scholarships are available to members through the Welfare Association for members wishing to attend the Grand Chapter. Through the Grand Chapter, you are further able to gain leadership roles and network with Actives and Alumni around the world.

HOUSING

Chapters traditionally offer low rent housing to its members which is not only affordable, but is also often conveniently located near the medical school. This also allows provisions for accommodations for visiting Phi Chi members who are interviewing or doing externships at other medical schools.
